MERGERS & ACQUISITIONS INTEGRATION

Bring acquired businesses together around one clear way of working

BusinessPort combines integration consultancy with the Agility System, a process-based business management system, to help you establish a common operating model across the combined organisation.

Two operating models. One organisation.

Every merger brings together different processes, responsibilities and controls. Aligning these creates clarity, strengthens governance and supports consistent ways of working across the combined business.

Align key processes

Compare how each business works and agree where a shared process makes sense.

Clarify accountability

Define who owns each process and who makes key operational decisions.

Keep controls visible

Link risks, obligations and controlled documents to the processes they support.

A PRACTICAL FIRST STEP

Post-deal integration sprint

We work with your integration team on selecting, reviewing and mapping processes. The result is a practical plan that identifies the controls and obligations to carry forward.

IN PRACTICE · ITHACA ENERGY

A shared management system after the merger

Following a recent merger with two large energy operators, our Integration Team designed a unified, process-based management system. Teams now have one integrated platform to access operational guidance, supported by a common governance framework for the combined business.
